Chamber's forum touches redevelopment

by LEE ANN MACKULIN

The Antioch Village Mayoral candidates had the chance to answer questions on the minds of residents and members of the Antioch Chamber of Commerce and Industry at a forum March 29.

The forum, held at the Tower Room, was hosted by the chamber to give the candidates the chance to discuss topics pertaining to the village's progress in the next four years.

Of the three candidates, Mayor Raymond Toft and Trustee Mabel Lou Weber were the only ones attending. Neither Henry Gillman nor write-in candidate Phil Burke showed.

The first issue, one of three brought up by the chamber (with chamber member Laddie Korecek moderating), was that "in order to solidify the downtown revitalization project, cooperation among village government, property owners and businesses is imperative" and how do the candidates intend to bring these parties together?

Toft sees the biggest battle being the cooperation of all of the property owners on the east side of Main Street in selling.

"We'd like to have them come forward and work with us. If they don't go along with us on this we're going to have a problem," said Toft.

Agreeing with Toft, Weber said, "We have to get individual owners of the property together. We have to ask them what their ambitions are for the next 23 years," which is the foreseen point at which the revitalization will be paying off.

Korecek then asked the two what their downtown revitalization goals were for the next four year term.

"To see a striving, lively business in each one of the empty stores," said Weber.

She would like to see new business in the town or to enhance existing businesses.

Getting a developer to start working on the project would be Toft's goal this next term.

"We have to get a developer down in the community," he said.

The chamber's final question was what the candidates' role would be in attracting new industries and retaining existing ones.

Being one of Toft's accomplishments the last four years, he said, "We've got two new industries and are trying to get two more in."

Deduction of some of the permit fees is one step being taken, said Toft.

"We have to be aware of what is happening with the industries so if they have a problem we can help them out," said Weber.

A question raised by one voter pertained to the time involved in starting and finishing the downtown's redevelopment.

"As it stands now there is no time limit," said Weber.

"We do, however, want to see progress because the minute people see it, they'll want to get involved," she added.

"I'd like to see it done in the next four years or sooner," said Toft.

"If I can acquire property within the next two months we could see something done this summer," he said.

"It will be up to the merchants and store owners and how fast we work," he added.

Another issue brought up by a member of the chamber was about the sign ordinance in Antioch.

Apparently, the list of violations to the ordinance, forbidding flashing or portable signs, runs deep.

"We do have to look into the sign ordinance," said Toft.

"We now have 56 violations and 35 of them are chamber members" he said.

"We have sent out violation notices and we'd like to hear from them," he added.

"Once the signs get in it's tough to get them to take them down," said Toft.

The ordinance is strict enough "we just have to police it better," he added.

Portable signs are allowed for 'special events', he explained.

Family continues 'expanding' tradition

by LEE ANN MACKULIN

While many Antioch residents have watched their town expand and change over the years, few have played as constructive a role in that change as the Dupre family.

Continuing the tradition, John Dupre, founder of the Coral Apartments, 760 Main St., is adding on 16 units to the building which was constructed in 1961.

Coral Apartments, (named after Dupre's mother 'Cora'), were "the first major apartment buildings in the town," he said.

The property on which they sit was bought by Dupre's father (also John) in 1900. It was originally part of the old Williams Brother's Subdivision, explained Dupre.

A few of the buildings constructed by his father were; the old town hall and jail, now law offices; the old King's Drug store, now the Moose Lodge; the first sewer plant and the old Ford garage. He also built Antioch's first water tower.

"I can remember digging a basement using teams of horses," he said.

"My father made all of the cement blocks (for some of the buildings)," he added.

His brother, Vincent, was responsible for building the houses along Loon Lake and rebuilding after a tornado in the 1930's destroyed them.

Dupre's first profession, heating and air conditioning, stemmed from his father installing the first hot-water heating system in the area. Dupre was in the business for 25 years before beginning construction of the apartments.

"If you don't have visions of expanding and making things better we stay too stable," said Dupre.

"I've advocated for years that they should tear down both sides of Main Street. It would be the savior point for the Village of Antioch," he added.

"We need a shopping mall downtown, not on the outskirts to chase people away," he said.

The eight one-bedroom and eight two-bedroom units will open in early fall. Parking for almost sixty cars will be available.

Having two sons, John and Jack, Dupre is "building this for them" so they will have it for their retirement, as he does.

"I've had quite nice tenants. We accommodate all ages, the handicapped and allow children, dogs and cats," said Dupre.

The State Bank of Antioch is financing the construction.

EXPANDING LANDMARK—The Coral Apartments, 760 Main Street, Antioch is being expanded. The apartments are the first major complex to go up in the town with the original owner, John Dupre, doing the expansion.

Township matches tradition against ticket

by JOHN STEINKE
Political Columnist

There are three candidates running for Antioch Twp. Highway Commissioner: David Heath, Mark Ring, and Earl E. Quirk. Following Blaine Ring's death, Heath was appointed road commissioner in 1981 to fill out the expired term. Blaine Ring had served as highway commissioner for 18 years. Heath is running on Jim Fields' Citizens Independent Party. Ring and Quirk are both independent candidates in the April 2 elections.

In a telephone interview with Lakeland Newspapers, Antioch Twp. Supervisor, Jim Fields, endorsed Dave Heath's election, and explained the process of Heath's appointment to the office in June, 1981. Following Blaine Ring's death, there were 11 applicants to fill the vacancy. Fields said three members of the highway department applied for the position. They were Mark Ring, Bob Martz and Earl Quirk. But Supervisor Fields and the twp. trustees were apprehensive that an internal appointment would create animosity and adversely affect the morale in the highway department.

Then Fields reported that many of the applicants were construction people. The supervisor observed that the construction industry "was at its worst in 1981." Both Fields and the trustees were concerned that the applicants from the construction field would vacate the office as soon as prosperity returned to the building trades. Finally, Twp. Trustee Dave Heath had worked closely with the late Blaine Ring in the preparation of the highway budget. Heath was familiar with Ring's program of road construction for the coming year. Dave Heath's appointment assured continuity in the office, and guaranteed the completion of Ring's road program during the next 12 months.

In addition, Dave Heath was in the construction business "and was a builder himself." Fields claims that Heath has a solid record of achievement as a highway commissioner. Supervisor Fields concluded, "I hope our residents will vote for Dave on April 2."

Ring has been endorsed by Llewellyn R. Van Patten, Jr., who served 29 years as Antioch Twp. Clerk.

The 67-year-old Van Patten states, "I think Mark Ring is a wonderful man. Mark has the practical experience and administrative knowledge to become a splendid highway commissioner. I do believe that he would do just as good a job as his father did. I also think that the township should have appointed somebody from the highway department when the office became vacant in 1981. We need somebody with a highway background as commissioner rather than somebody, who is inexperienced in the work."

Van Patten succeeded Charles Richards as Twp. Clerk. Richards served in the office for 32 years. When Richards retired, he supported Van Patten's election in 1949. Van Patten resigned as Antioch Twp. Clerk in 1978. He was also employed by the Lake County Highway Dept. from 1972-1978.

Endorse chain candidates

by MIKE PRAMSHAFER

Two major endorsements have been made concerning the Chain Of Lakes-Fox River Waterway Management Agency board, which will be chosen by voters in Lake and McHenry Counties on Tuesday, April 2.

The Northern Illinois Conservation Club held a Candidate's Night forum on March 19 in Antioch for the purpose of endorsing a chairman and three Lake County directors.

Each candidate was screened individually by a steering committee and were all asked the same questions so that one candidate would not have it easier than another.

"It is the opinion of this committee that each and every candidate would be an asset to this agency if elected. We can only hope that those elected will consider very seriously using the talents of those not elected in an advisory type manner," Mary Sterbenz, committee chairman said.

The committee has endorsed Jerold Cordrey, of McHenry, for the chairman's position and Charles Kempf (Antioch) and James Harris (Antioch) for four-year directors. Also being endorsed is Howard "Bud" Scott, of Lake Villa, for a two-year director seat.

"This is perhaps the toughest decision we have had to make but after meeting with the candidates and discussing their ideas, goals and qualifications we feel that as a committee the four men which we have decided upon will represent this agency well," Sterbenz said.

The Fox Riverfront Federation has made different choices for the agency. They have chosen John Soffietti, Fox Lake attorney and Lake Villa resident, to hold the chairman's position.

For McHenry County directors, the Federation chose Darrell Baker (McHenry), Bruce Bossow (Cary) and George Thompson (McHenry). Its Lake County selections are Roy Gundelach (Lake Villa), Charles Kempf (Antioch) and Howard "Bud" Scott (Lake Villa).

The Fox Riverfront Federation is a voluntary membership alliance of residents and occupants of 90 residential, commercial and political subdivisions lying along the Fox-River between McHenry and Algonquin Dams in both counties.

Although being endorsed by one these organizations is an honor, it doesn't really mean anything unless the voters see it the same way.

Each candidate has his own theory of what should be done with the agency and when. There are some candidates who haven't received an endorsement that are just as knowledgeable and experienced as some of the ones that did.

For example, Bob Schmidt, of Lake Villa, has picked up on something that most of the candidates have not.

Schmidt feels that the key to the agency is the development of a competent technical staff with a proven track record and experienced in obtaining grant money and so on.

"A technical staff is the key to the agency and nobody seems to acknowledge it. The worst thing that could happen to this agency would be if it got politicized," Schmidt said.

"As far as I'm concerned, politics should end at the water's edge. The tendency is too great and that's what scares me," he said.

Schmidt believes main projects of the agency should include water safety, health and water quality.

Lake County to begin new growth

East Central Lake County is expected to become one of Metropolitan Chicago's major new growth areas as the rapidly expanding up-scale business park real estate market reaches the far North Shore.

Latest figures from the Northeastern Illinois Planning Commission (NIPC) show Lake County will increase its share of suburban growth because of its abundant supply of land, while land scarcity will slow the current rate of growth in DuPage and Northwest Cook Counties.

Employment in East Central Lake County is expected to increase 47 percent by the year 2005. In contrast, the number of people working in Chicago in the next 20 years will have increased by only 5.5 percent, 4.5 percent downtown, says NIPC.

According to the Lake County Dept. of Planning, Zoning and Environmental Quality, the area in East Central Lake County along Route 176 from Skokie Highway (US 41) six miles west into Libertyville Township will become one of Illinois' major business park corridors by 1990.

The "East Central Corridor" will create employment, revenue and additional business for Lake County, report Department officials.

Real estate executive Henry E. Mawicke says a whole new real estate sector is emerging, which, unlike some parks of the 1970's, emits no pollution or noise.

"The result will be a stronger economic base for East Central Lake County by 1990 without environmental hazards," states Mawicke, partner of Bennett and Kahnweiler Associates, corporate real estate firm and developers of Lake Bluff Business Center.

The new $55,000,000, 58-acre center for office/research and light assembly is located on US 41 and Illinois Routes 43 and 176 in Lake Bluff.

Mawicke says a growing number of companies in the research/tech/service sector "are looking for more than four walls and a parking lot."

"Today's user wants a building which reflects the proper company image, one that provides visibility and creates a productive work environment for the employees," he observes.

Focal point of tomorrow's boom will be in two adjoining townships in East Central Lake County:

— Shields Twp., abutting Lake Michigan, which encompasses Lake Bluff and Lake Forest.

— Libertyville Twp., directly west of Shields, which includes Libertyville and part of Vernon Hills.

The Northeastern Illinois Planning Commission forecasts 4,476 additional jobs will be created in Shields Twp., bringing the total number of workers there to 26,652 by the year 2005.

More than 34,000 people will be working in Libertyville Twp. by 2005, an increase of more than 15,000 from the 1980 employment figures, says NIPC.

Commuting ease, the favorable tax rate and proximity to business owners' North Shore residences are stimulating development of new office and research centers and business parks throughout the area, says the Lake County Planning Dept.

Adding to the appeal of Lake County for company relocations and expansions are the many lakes, forests, farms and conservation preserves that position it uniquely among other suburban corridors.

Latest entry in the Lake County economic boom is the new business park which combines the aesthetic interior and exterior designs of today's corporate office space with the functional requirements for research and light assembly.

According to Mawicke, the tracts of available land in East Central Lake County will become some of the hottest properties in Illinois as developers scramble for a leading position in Chicago's first upscale business park real estate market on the North Shore.

The land in Shields and Libertyville Twps. is ideally suited to developing business parks, says Mawicke, pointing out that such projects are tightly regulated to preserve the character of the villages and towns.

Strict zoning and long-range planning by village and county officials ensure continued high quality living standards will be maintained for residents, whose per capita worth is among the highest in Illinois, he continues.

Lake County is encouraging corporations in the office and research sector to headquarter their facilities in the new East Central Corridor because they provide revenue and employment without bringing in pollution, noise or smokestacks.

The Dept. of Planning notes an increasing number of developers are building business parks in the suburbs to lure owners with the attraction of shorter commutes and greater visibility for the individual company.

Mawicke says Lake County is set for a major business park boom because the site selection requirements which once limited many companies to the Chicago area have become obsolete.

"Tomorrow's multi-use business parks will give North Shore entrepreneurs who own companies the opportunity to build their own facility close to home in an aesthetically pleasing work environment," Mawicke says.

"We positioned Lake Bluff Business Center between the burgeoning corporate office boom in the Bannockburn/Lincolnshire area and the established industrial centers of North Chicago, Waukegan and Gurnee to meet the location needs of the new business user," he says.

The philosophy for developing in Lake County is that the time spent commuting can better be spent at the office, Mawicke says.

"Multiply the commuting time by the number of workers and management, most of whom probably live in the area and an East Central Lake County location can boost the bottom line in the form of greater productivity and more efficient use of time.

"We will have reduced employee commuting time by as much as 75 percent by building the Lake Bluff Business Center in Lake Bluff," he points out.

At the same time, the corridor provides easy access via the Tri-State Tollway to O'Hare Airport and downtown Chicago.

Foresters Raise Money For Camp

The Peacock Camp for Crippled Children in Lake Villa was the recipient of some work by members of Court Illinois 878 of the Independent Order of Foresters.

During their recent "Western Nite," members of Court Illinois raised $275 for the Peacock Camp to help in purchasing some much needed equipment.

The Independent Order of Foresters is one of the largest fraternal life insurance companies in the world and there are several "Courts" in Northern Illinois and Southern Wisconsin that conduct fund raising events for deserving charitable organizations.

Troop 92 earns honors

Antioch Boy Scout Troop 92 won first and second place honors, for the second consecutive year, at the Lakes District First Aid Meet, held at the Grant High School Gymnasium.

The occasion marked the first time that both patrols from the same troop won first and second place honors two years in a row.

They competed in a field of 18 area patrols in the simulated treatment of real-life first aid problems. The six problems included a variety of fractured bones, poisoning, burns, heat-stroke, severed arteries and lacerations of the eye.

In each problem area, the patrols were judged on such criteria as teamwork, analysis, treatment, leadership and problem reporting.

The first place Viking Patrol scored 587 of the 600 points and consisted of Patrol Leader Mark Aschbacher, Eric Anderson, Matt Aschbacher, Dale Gade, Brian Paschke and Dave Weston.

The second place Panther Patrol earned 581 points and consisted of Patrol Leader Bob Paschke, Jay Bruski, Steve Goetzelman, Alec Kaufman, Danny Ravens, Ken Wisniewski and Frank Zeien.

Troop 92 Senior Patrol Leader Brian Clark and Asst. Senior Patrol Leader Phil Hettich were among the event judges.

The scouts were accompanied to the meet by Scout master Bernie Dost, Committee Chairman Harold Clark, Asst. Scoutmasters Bill Goetzelman and Tom Aschbacher and Paul Hettich.

The troop celebrated their victory with lunch at McDonalds.

In other activities, the troop participated in the annual Lakes District Klondike Derby at Camp Oakar near Rosecrans. In a field of 22 patrols, Troop 92's Rattlesnake Patrol, headed by Hettich, won second place. The Panther Patrol, headed by Goetzelman, won third place and the Viking Patrol headed by Weston, placed seventh.

Senior Patrol leader Brian Clark received a second place award for leadership skills as an event judge.

Klondike Derby competition consisted of a series of activities such as fire building, sled racing, ice rescue, astronomy and tracking.

The troop also performed cleanup service for the 1985 Chain O' Lakes Ice Derby on Peteite Lake.

The annual winter campout was held at Camp Timber-Lee near East Troy, Wis.

Finally, for a change of pace, the troop attended the Milwaukee Sports Show on March 24.

Troop 92 is sponsored by the Antioch Moose Lodge.

Crime Stoppers slate recognition dinner

Secretary of State Jim Edgar will be the Keynote speaker at the Lake County Crime Stoppers Annual Recognition Dinner. The master of ceremonies will be John R. Green Jr., president of Admiral Corp.

The event, to be held at Marriott's Lincolnshire Resort on April 10 will begin with a cocktail hour at 6 p.m. and dinner at 7 p.m. The ceremonies will begin after dinner.

Ronald Hauri, executive director of Lake County Crime Stoppers said that Crime Stoppers will honor those individuals, companies and organizations which have made outstanding contributions to the tremendous success of the program. In less than one year, 216 felony crimes have been effected and more than $291,850 in stolen property and narcotics have been recovered. The current conviction rate stands at more than 95 percent. This amount of success did not happen by accident said Hauri. Many people are involved in making Crime Stoppers work this well throughout Lake County and the board of directors feels it is extremely important to recognize those efforts.

Anyone who wishes to attend the Recognition Dinner can call Lake County Crime Stoppers at (312) 662-2222 to arrange for tickets. Ticket prices are $30 each and purchases are tax-deductible. According to Hauri, the organization will not raise funds on sales of tickets. The event is priced to pay for itself and motivate as many persons as possible to attend.

Forum

"We're going to have to be flexible to a point with the ordinance," said Toft.

He is referring to the business brought into the town by the signs on the main streets.

"If I'm elected, I will do a study on the sign ordinance and it will be either in or out," said Weber.

Both candidates did agree that they felt independent mayoral candidate Henry Gillman was out-of-line with his remarks against the Antioch Police Dept. on a WKRS Radio Show March 26.

"I think we've got about the best police department in Lake County," said Toft.

Preceding the forum, the chamber held its quarterly meeting.

Chamber President Jeff Mulder announced that a few of the area stores will be experimenting by extending their hours until 8 p.m. on Thursdays.

"Hopefully this will generate more business and meet the needs of the people who shop in the downtown area," said Mulder.

While planning ahead to coming events such as Maxwell Street Days and the Art Fair, Mulder thanked a few people for their work on the successful Easter Parade held March 16.

Retail Chairman Larry Hanson and advertising wiz Vince Giorgi (responsible for the Easter Castle and all of the public relations) were thanked for a job well done.

Plan to close child protection loophole

Legislation to close a loophole in Illinois' Child Passenger Protection Act has been introduced in the Illinois House of Representatives by State Rep. Dick Klemm (R-63rd).

House Bill 613 amends the existing Act to delete ownership of a vehicle as a criteria for establishing which parent or guardian shall be held accountable to the requirements of the Child Passenger Protection Act.

"I know a case in which a mother, whose three-year-old child was not properly strapped into a seat as required in the law, may be acquitted just because she happened to be driving her husband's car," said Klemm. "Just because it's her husband's name rather than hers on the car title, she may be able to escape penalties for failing to comply with the law. This is not what we intended when we passed the Child Passenger Protection Act. We want parents and guardians to see that their children are protected when riding with them in a car or truck—regardless of whether that parent actually owns the car he or she is driving. And, if that parent does not protect the child, then he or she should be prosecuted for that offense."

Churchill reviews state proposals

Gov. James Thompson submitted an $18.7 billion budget to the General Assembly in major legislative action of the week, according to state Rep. Robert "Bob" Churchill (R-Lake Villa).

Churchill said that although the budget contains a number of major new initiatives, including the previously announced "Build Illinois" and school funding and reform projects, recommended new spending is only about 5 percent above the current year. That compares favorably, Churchill said, with a projected inflation rate of 4.2 percent.

Also during the week, the House Agriculture Committee sent to the house floor an emergency farm credit act. The act would provide farmers with loans at half the current interest rate, by having the state underwrite the remaining half. The loans and half the interest rates would have to be repaid by next March. The remaining interest would have to be repaid to the state over the next five years, however, no additional charges would be made.

Several other major bills were introduced during the week, Churchill said including:

"Shield Law" (HB 508) This would provide members of the news media with a greater "shield" to protect confidential sources of information. Currently, Illinois law protects a reporter from having to disclose a source of information except under very limited circumstances. However, the law contains a blanket exception for libel and slander cases. In some instance, frivolous lawsuits have been filed simply as a means to learn the identity of a confidential source.

Bribery (HB 463) This measure was introduced in response to a controversial Cook County Criminal Court ruling that acquitted a defense attorney of bribery. Although the attorney allegedly solicited $7,000 from a relative of a client by telling the relative, the money was needed to bribe a judge, the court ruled the attorney is authorized to take money from a client for legal defense, even if the money is used for a payoff. This measure would make lawyers guilty of bribery if they solicit money to bribe another court officer.

Day Care Workers (HB 503) Requires investigation into the criminal record of any applicant for a day care license or any employee of a day care center.

Child Protection (HB 522) Adds to the definition of child abduction, the luring or attempt to lure a child into a motor vehicle. The act of luring or trying to lure a child into a motor vehicle would be considered evidence of criminal intent in and of itself.

Child Care Deduction (HB 473) Provides a 10 percent state income tax deduction for employers who provide child care services or facilities for employees.

PM&L to 'light up sky'

"Light Up The Sky," Moss Hart's hilarious comedy which opens April 5 at the PM&L Theatre, represents Mark Heller's directorial debut for the Antioch based acting company.

Heller, who has come to be known to PM&L theatre goers as an outstanding actor, holds a B.F.A. in drama from the University of Arizona in acting and directing.

Local theatre patrons may remember his performances in "Mornings At Seven," "Sly Fox," "Oklahoma," "Bus Stop," and most recently, "On Golden Pond."

His first love, however, is directing and producing plays.

Says Heller, "Light Up The Sky" is simply a great show. The characters are lots of fun, the plot is super, and the action is non-stop. It's probably my favorite play. I'd advise people to make their reservations early for this show. They might want to come back to see it again."

Performance dates for "Light Up The Sky" are April 5, 6, 12, 13, 19 and 20 at 8:30 p.m. There will be a special Sunday matinee on April 14, at 2:30 p.m. Tickets are $4.50 with discounts for students and senior citizens and can be purchased at the door prior to each performance. Reservations are recommended and may be made by calling (312) 395-3055.

Dinner-theatre packages may be obtained by calling The Village Pub (312) 395-3373 or Struggles Restaurant (312) 395-9400, both in Antioch.

Hogan makes plans for joint superintendency

by PETER GILL

Richard Hogan likes his school to look nice. The superintendent of Grass Lake School in Antioch says that by improving the overall appearance of the school, one can also change the overall attitude of those in the school.

Hogan, recently named as superintendent of Lotus Elementary School in Fox Lake as well, talks with pride about the improvement that Grass Lake School has seen over a period of seven years.

He also looks forward to the task that he will face as superintendent of another school.

Hogan will hold the first joint superintendency in Lake County when his job at Lotus begins on July 1. He said that he does not want to make Lotus a "little Grass Lake," but does see an opportunity for the same type of improvement that he sparked at Grass Lake.

That improvement started when he came to the Antioch school in 1977.

The floor was all tile, mostly broken and dirty, he said, the walls were marked up and the bathrooms were filled with graffiti.

Hogan started his project by tiling the painted bathroom floors and carpeting the hallways of the school. He also began to make the building more energy-efficient by boarding up many of the windows and putting shelving units in their places.

"If you can get the place to look nicer, the overall attitude is going to increase," Hogan said. "To have a good school, you've got to be surrounded by good people, and you've got to make the surroundings as enjoyable as possible."

Hogan said that he can see a big change in not only attitude, but in academic performance of the students now compared to seven years ago.

He said that he had the classrooms carpeted, and hires the teachers to clean their own rooms after the school year.

"It costs about $8,000 to have the teachers clean their own rooms," Hogan said. "It saves the cost of hiring another custodian and gives the teachers a few extra dollars."

He added that the teachers are more apt to keep their classroom environments looking nice.

"The teachers aren't going to let the kids come into the classroom with mud on their feet," he said.

Besides the carpeting, Hogan has kept his eyes open for deals for lockers for the students, a new curtain for the stage, and whatever else he can get to benefit the school.

"My wife didn't want me to take the job after first looking at the school, but I figured there was no place to go but up," Hogan said.

Hogan has found good deals on the purchase of lockers, playground equipment and weight-lifting equipment for the school. He figures that it is a small school and if he is to improve it he must find these kinds of deals.

"I think that's part of my job, to get deals like that," he said.

Hogan, who grew up on a farm in Iowa, said that much of the time he will dig right in and help build something that the school needs.

"It's been fun, I like this kind of thing," he said.

Hogan said that the costs of putting in new carpeting and insulating the walls where the windows used to be is paid for by the dollars saved on maintenance. The carpet only has to be vacuumed, and not stripped and rewaxed every spring. It lasts much longer than tile does too, he added.

For all the renovation that Hogan has put Grass Lake School through, he said that only time will tell what changes will take place at Lotus when he takes over.

He said that Lotus is not in as bad of shape that Grass Lake was once in, but there is room for improvement.

Hogan has plans for his new school, but he knows that it is not his job yet.

The job ahead will not be limited to just the renovation of school property. Hogan would like to make some changes in the curriculum as well, like he did at Grass Lake.

The curriculum at Grass Lake, in Hogan's words, is a little bit unorthodox. He does not use a study hall for his students, unless they have serious problems raising their grades.

Out of the eight periods that divide up a school day, five of them are used for class. The eighth period is used for special interest classes in what is called the activity period. The students pick something that they have a special interest in and they learn the practice of it as well as the theory.

One example of this is weightlifting. A specific number of students may join the class and there is a specific program that they must follow. Records are kept and students are taught how to lift weights safely and efficiently.

Hogan will be working with both boards and he does not know yet how many things will be shared. The two schools presently share a teacher. There may be more of that and more combining of programs.

The referendum, if it would have passed in November, may have helped the schools to combine programs. The way it is now, the boards will still operate separately.

Hogan said that the referendum might have helped, but he put it in the past.

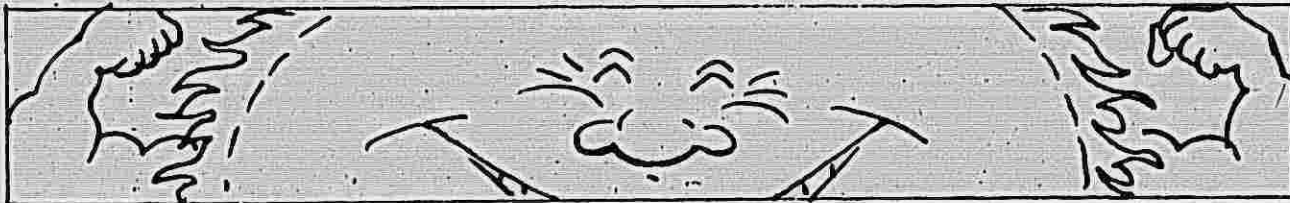

"It would've been easier to work for one school board," Hogan said. As far as the referendum passing, he simply says, "it's not my business, I've got the job to do."

Hogan is not quick to speak about his plans. It is still Supr. Wayne Tidd's job to handle the school and until then, Hogan will refrain from discussing his plans in depth.

Still, some of his ideas have worked well in Grass Lake and Hogan says he must be doing something right or the Lotus board never would have offered him the job.

Forms library program

A new group forming in Antioch called 'Library Friends', will serve to promote existing resources and programs and sponsor new programs at the library.

Money raised through membership dues and other fundraisers would be used for things such as computers, micro film equipment, supplies for the children's program, etc. There are various possibilities for money and volunteers including book delivery, pick-up for shut-ins, puppet shows, speakers and different workshops to name a few.

The group is an outgrowth of a desire to do something positive for the community. The library is a good service support, having much to offer all age groups.

Anyone interested in working with the group or supporting them through a membership may attend the first official meeting

April 15, 7:30 p.m. at the library. Speaker will be local author and artist Doug Ploss.

Along the way with ANNIE MAE

Have you seen the Robins? I saw one. I do believe Spring is here just like the calendar says. The kids can play outside on break. What luck for Mom.

Can everyone tell it is election time? There are signs every spot you look. I hope this is a reminder for everyone to vote April 2. Annie May always says if you do not exercise your right to vote you have lost your right to complain.

If you missed the 'roast' at "My Brother's Place" March 22, you did miss a good time. It was no surprise that as a Senior in high school, in the Annual Ray Toft's ambition was "to be a good citizen". He took a lot of roasting from a lot of people but it is real hard to top "Diemer". If you didn't see the little "outhouse" up close, be sure to ask the Mayor about it. It didn't miss a detail.

Tenza Jandula, Happy 40th. Didi everyone see the nice big sign on Main Street? Who did the art work? Congratulations. I don't know if I would want it spread around like that when the big time comes. You are a good sport.

Did everyone get registered for Little League? It is time to pull out the balls and bats because practice is going to start. Mom, get the freezer fast foods ready to roll.

Be sure to get your Easter supplies in town. Every shop I go to I see such lovely candies, cards and goodies for the kids. Get them soon so you don't have to run out of town at the last minute, as they might be gone.

The Oakwood Knolls Spring Dance was a huge success as usual. The food and dancing was a great time and everyone looked so spring bound. It is so nice to see the community in one spot enjoying each other's company.

Annual dinner meeting to be April 10

Chamber joins bureau

Jeff Mulder, President of the Antioch Chamber of Commerce and Industry, has announced that the chamber has become a member of the Lake County Illinois Convention and Visitors Bureau (LCICVB). Mulder was elected by the Antioch Chamber Board of Directors to represent the Antioch Chamber and serve on the non-profit corporation's Board of Directors.

The purpose of the LCICVB is to encourage, foster, promote and stimulate conventions and tourism in Lake County, in order to improve and enhance all the business in the area. This includes, but doesn't limit, hotels, motels and restaurants. It acquaints and informs the public as to these objectives by providing information and other civic, educational, social and public features that will foster and stimulate business in Lake County.

"As a member of the LCICVB, the Antioch Chamber of Commerce and Industry will be able to increase its service to all its members by exposing Antioch and Lake County to the tremendous convention and resort market that exists today," Mulder said.

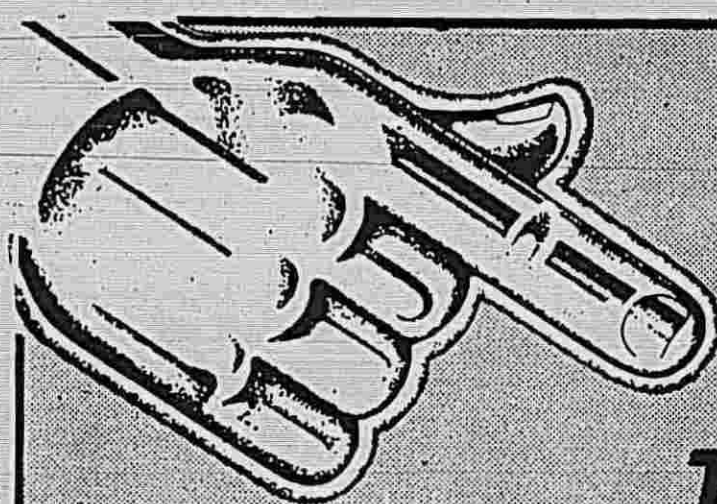

The LCICVB has been certified by the Department of Commerce and Community Affairs to receive funds under Public Act 83-1129 of the Local Tourism and Convention Bureau Program. Their annual meeting is scheduled sometime in May.
